

Sampling of Personal Fundraisers on Facebook

Get Trevor Home

Jessica from Ohio has taken to Facebook to raise funds for her son, Trevor, a high school all-state football star who was paralyzed from the chest down in a tragic car accident last year. The driver, Trevor's friend, was killed.

Before the accident, Trevor hoped to become a college football player, but now he has new aspirations: to become a motivational speaker and inspire others to “not give up.” But instead of moving forward with his life, he’s stuck in a nursing home. With the funds raised, Jessica hopes to bring Trevor home and get him a wheelchair- accessible van so that he can pursue his dream.

Help Baby Lynk

Just one day after bringing her newborn baby Lynk home from from the hospital, mom Brittany found herself rushing him to the emergency room after his entire little body turned blue. Lynk has since suffered through 30 more of these episodes, but his doctors don't know what's wrong with him -- they just know that it's serious.

Now, the only hope for Lynk is to see specialist doctors, but his family is struggling to cover his medical costs. Brittany has taken to Facebook to help save Lynk’s life -- so far the funds raised have helped Lynk get more specialized help.

Hope for Dan

Three weeks ago LA Theater Director Dan Bonnell was in the middle of pitching a play he’d been working on for years to a major theater when his arm went completely numb. He realized right away he was having a stroke. While his colleagues called an ambulance, Dan managed to ring his wife, Lea, and speak to her while his diction rapidly began to fade. That was the last time Dan spoke...

He’s now in a long-term acute care hospital and has very little functionality. Lea, an acting teacher, has left her job to be by his side. Feeling helpless, Dan’s theater community rallied on Facebook to send their prayers and raise over $19,000 to help the family cover critical living costs and medical expenses.
